National Parks, National Legacy; eJournal USA, July 2008

<http://goo.gl/GEbMR>

The people of the United States own and protect a sprawling system of national parks, including seashores, trails, monuments, and battlefields. They keep these parks for the future, and they treasure them today. As former President Franklin Delano Roosevelt said, "There is nothing so American as our national parks. The scenery and wildlife are native. The fundamental idea behind the parks is native. It is, in brief, that the country belongs to the people." This edition of eJournal USA presents glorious views of the national parks, the history of this vast system, and its mission of conservation and public access.
